

Matt Hoobler is the AVP for Policy and Natural Resources with Watco; a full-service supply chain solutions company providing rail, transloading, terminal and port, and logistics services. Matt engages such aspects of the company's natural resource endeavors including wetland delineations, bat surveys, tribal consultations, and sustainability reporting to name a few. He is headquartered in Cheyenne, Wyoming and focuses on state-level efforts, like grant development, tax credit implementation, and team member support in Washington, Idaho, South Dakota and Wyoming.