

Johan Hellman has more than three decades of professional experience in Northwest politics, public affairs, and government relations. For the past decade, he served as the BNSF Railway Company's Pacific Northwest lead on government relations and public affairs. Prior to joining the railroad, Johan represented public ports in Washington state, served as government affairs director of Verizon Communications (PNW), and was a senior staffer to the Washington State Senate. A Northwesterner since early childhood, Johan enjoys sailing, skiing, hiking, travel, adventurous foods, and throwing tennis balls for two precocious border collies.
